

These great dogs in the Adoption program at Dallas Animal Services have been in the shelter since December and have been marked URGENT. All have been tested for heartworms, fully vaccinated, temperament tested, and spayed or neutered.

Please consider adopting or taking one (or more) into your foster program!

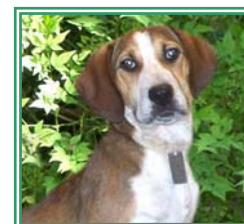

Beau is a 9-month-old Terrier/ Shepherd mix with a wiry tan-and-black coat. He currently weighs 60 pounds. Beau was picked up as a stray and has been looking for a new home since December 9.

April is a 1 ½-year-old Jack Russell Terrier mix with a white coat with brown patches. She weighs about 40 pounds. She's a very lively, energetic girl who came into the shelter as a stray and has been looking for a new home since December 3.

Grizzel is a 7-month-old Shepherd mix with a sleek dark blue-and-white coat. Grizzel currently weighs 33 pounds. He was brought to the shelter by his previous owners and has been looking for a new family since December 5.

Shasta is a 6-month-old Beagle-hound mix with long legs and a sleek body. She's somewhat shy but gentle. Shasta came to the shelter as a stray and has been looking for a new family since December 7.

Hootie is a 1-year-old black-and-tan Rottweiler mix. He's full grown at his current 42 pounds. Hootie came to the shelter as a stray and has been looking for a new home since December 15.

Buddy is a 1 ½-year-old Border Collie mix with a short black-and-white coat and curly tail who weighs 55 pounds. He was surrendered because his previous owners thought he had too much energy, but he's a typical Border Collie! Buddy does well with other dogs and would probably enjoy having another canine companion in his new home. He has been looking for a new family since December 10.
